Good evening Chris,

We continue to try to meet the enormous demand for XRP.

Although trading on Polo is complicated due to intermittent service, I would like to capitalise more on the higher prices (and trading volumes) currently there. As such, would you consider increasing your exposure to Polo from $300K to $1MM?

Also, although we should have enough XRP in the buffer for today, please refill when you get a chance. We are selling across three exchanges and trading volumes continue to increase from one day to the next.

Regards,
[REDACTED]

For good reporting sake, I forgot to mention yesterday that the reason 4t's effective selling rate seemed so high (5.26%) was because it included XRP sales we have started making at Bitstamp. My apologies - we are working on improving our reporting.
